

AT CANAJOHARIE

Field Trip Themes

Art in Advertising: How Bartlett Arkell's Beech-Nut Used Fine Art to Sell Food – Special Exhibit, Spring 2019

How did a marketing collection end up in a fine art museum? Many of the paintings in the Arkell Museum's collection were never intended to be hung on the wall, but rather used as the basis for advertisements. Explore the Beech-Nut marketing materials and see how Bartlett Arkell used his art to sell food! Visit the newest Museum exhibit, Marketing the Mohawk Valley as part of this program!

Grades: 6-12

Colonial Canajoharie – Special Exhibit, Spring 2019

Visit our exhibit, Portraits & Landscapes: From the Arkell Museum Collection and learn about our area's connection to the American Revolution! From George Washington to the Frey House, we'll use artwork as a lens to study this important time period.

Grades: K-12

Animals in Art

How do artists capture the essence of an animal in watercolor, oil, sculpture, and print? Come explore the newest exhibits at the Arkell Museum and get up close and personal with the Animal Kingdom – in art form!

Grades: K-12

Elements of Art: Line, Shape, Form, & More!

Line, shape, form, and more! Learn about the building blocks of every work of art as you explore the works in the Arkell Museums collection.

Grades: K-5

Climbing Through the Frame: Exploring the Arkell Museum's Collection of Landscape Paintings

From the dreamy scenes of Childe Hassam to our iconic Winslow Homers, jump into the landscape paintings of our collection and learn more about how artists create these magical vistas.

The People in the Paintings: Who's Who in the Arkell Museum's Collection

What do George Washington, an Italian Lady, and Captain Frans Banninck Cocq all have in common? You can visit with all of them during your trip to Canajoharie! Come explore the portrait collection at the Arkell Museum, which includes works by William Merritt Chase, Gilbert Stuart, John Singer Sargent, and more!
